

Got Clutter?

Operation Organization, Inc. Is in the House...or Office

By Denise Ames

Purge your closets, bedrooms and cabinets with Operation Organization.

LOS ANGELES – Whether you are a stay-at-home mom, business executive or anyone in between, I think you will agree that order and neatness help alleviate stress, and create a more peaceful environment. Clutter and chaos have finally met their match with Operation Organization, Inc. by attacking those chores you are simply too busy to do (or just don't want to do)!

Owner Katrina Cameron's "can-do" mentality and attention to detail stem from growing up in a family of well-organized entrepreneurs. As a teen, she assisted her parents in running a bed-and-breakfast business. Later, she managed a fast-paced hair salon and was a personal assistant to a well-known celebrity. "I wanted to start my own business," she says, "one that highlights my skills and offers a beneficial service to others."

"I hear people say 'I am always so overwhelmed...everything is such a mess around here! They wind up living in their 'to-do-list!'" Having the experience and skills to solve these common complaints explains why Ms. Cameron's clients have quadrupled each year since she opened her business in 2005. Now, Operation Organization, Inc. is a fully insured corporation employing nine trained professionals. Satisfied customers range from the San Fernando Valley to Long Beach and most places in between.

"Our most popular services are setting up filing systems, organizing garages and closets!" she reveals. Operation Organization, Inc. comes into your home or office and expertly reorganizes everything from your desk, to your computer hard-drive, to your entire home! They will even create inventory spreadsheets for easy updating. Purging bedroom closets and kitchen cupboards may be a challenge for you, but not for Operation Organization, Inc.! They will pack boxes for moving or storage, as well as recycle, donate, dump and shred unwanted items then deliver your tax deductible receipts. This company also specializes in professional shopping and party planning.

Reorganize everything from your desk, computer hard-drive or your entire workplace.

After Operation Organization, Inc. has accomplished your goals, the organizers will show you how to maintain your newfound order, or provide a convenient maintenance schedule to best fit your needs. "Our professional organizers (all of whom have had extensive nationwide background checks) are available for our clients seven days a week," Ms.

Cameron says. "We all enjoy helping people get organized, because the result creates clarity in their lives: when your environment is clutter-free, so is your mind!"

Operation Organization, Inc. is
